

This 2020 GRC was first announced for June 2020 and then shifted to November 2020 owing to the COVID 19 pandemic. Our desire very clearly was to offer an in-person conference, and we did not want to make a rapid shift to an online version until we were able to reflect on and puzzle about both the implications of moving this work online, and what meaning the title held for these times. Taking cognizance of the Covid situation in India, we then decided to cancel the GRC for 2020. However, we believe that this title and theme continues to have great relevance, and we also keep the hope of face-to-face GRCs alive, notwithstanding the reality of ongoing waves of the pandemic and the huge uncertainties it creates. While this GRC was offered but didn't take place, the act of offering it has influenced our thinking and attention on this topic from a GR perspective.
