

Dear Colleague,

we are very excited to announce the fourth edition of the social dreaming training sponsored by SDiN! It is extremely rewarding to accompany participants in the discovery of the potentiality of this methodology.

Social dreaming accesses the social unconscious, reveals what the dreams are telling us, develops connective and systemic thinking, fosters creativity, innovation, meaningful conversations and facilitates the practice of dialogue where the multitude and diversity of voices can be heard. It is extremely relevant in today's world where the tendency to polarization is so dangerously active.

The training gathers people globally in two concurrent streams, EU and AUS, and it offers the unique opportunity to share dreams and thinking across diverse nationalities and cultures. Participants work in their chosen stream for one year, and share with the other stream parts of the program: matrices, dialogues and supervisions.

The design of the program is the fruit of an ongoing learning from the experience of the previous editions and the contributions of both staff and participants. The composition of the staff group includes some of the best and most experienced practitioners in the field of SD who have all been in collaboration with Gordon Lawrence.

We hope that you will be interested to join and circulate the brochure amongst your contacts.

Thank you!

Franca Fubini & Susan Long
Training Directors